MAY SEEK THE MILITIA.

Rioting and gunplay, which has characterized the strike of 400 machinists at the plant of the Edward Valve and Manufacturing company in East Chicago, came to a head yesterday when 150 strikers fought a pitched battle with forty strikebreakers imported from Chicago and twenty armed guards employed by the company. One man was killed and five wounded in the mêlée, during which nearly 100 shots were exchanged.

Recommendations of Committee.

As a result of its investigations the committee makes the following recommendations:

1. Enactment of a minimum wage law.

2. Repeal of social laws fallen into disuse and strict enforcement of all others.

3. Encouragement of uniform state social legislation.

4. Improvement of conditions for girls in domestic service.

5. Establishment of homes for moral and industrial schooling of reformed women.

6. Extension of vocational schools.

7. Abolition of the "fining" system in the treatment of immoral women.

8. Registration of minor boys and girls in employment.

9. Prohibition of printing in newspapers of details of court cases involving moral lapses.

10. Creation of a state athletic commission for the encouragement of healthful pastimes.

Matter of Common Knowledge.

The report dismisses the conspiracy part played by drinking in cafés and cabarets as a matter of such general knowledge as to require no elaboration. The report says there can be no disagreement as to the effects on the young woman of the elaborate drinking and dancing as practiced in many fashionable restaurants.

"The free and easy manner of introductions—in some places an employee being delegated to see that every one gets acquainted—adds to the danger. Most of the girls who frequent the popular restaurants given over to dancing are very young."

The commission found that the highest standard of morals exists among the girls in the high schools, colleges, and universities of the state.

OWNER MAY ASK MILITIA.

Cliff E. Olson, president of the valve company which is manufacturing 4 inch shells for the allies, said he would appeal personally to the governor for protection if his workers if another outbreak occurs.

More than twenty strikers, strikebreakers and guards employed by the company are under arrest, and Chief of Police Charles E. Bowen has twenty-two revolvers found on those arrested and picked up near the scene of the riot.

DOMESTIC EMPLOYMENT FAULTY.

The system of domestic employment in America is condemned by the committee in positive terms.

"Unregulated condition of domestic employment, uncertain hours, absence of definite social status, and lack of creative opportunities render the home, in many cases, for the woman servants a breeding place of immorality," the committee finds.

Extensive investigations conducted by the committee, the report says, disclosed the fact that more women of the underworld fall into disrepute from domestic employment than from any other work.

Of 181 girls sent to the state training school at Geneva, Ill., who had worked for a wage previous to commitment the committee found that 118, or 65.35 per tional route by which we can re-visit our troops in eastern Macedonia? The bridge was mined; it could have been blown up on a moment's notice at the enemy's approach. It is admitted that there was no enemy anywhere near the bridge and no indication that any was coming. What military reason was there, therefore, to blow up the bridge now, except to starve out the Greek troops around Serres Drama?

"Where is the necessity for the occupation of Corfu? If Greece is the ally of Serbia, so also is Italy, and transportation of Serbs to Albania and Italy would be simpler than to Corfu. Is it because Italians are refusing to accept Serbs, fearing a spread of cholera, that the allies think that the Greeks want to be endangered by cholera, any more than the Italians?"

DUPLEXITY IS CHARGED.

"They say that they are occupying Castellorizo, Corfu, and other points in search for submarine bases. The British legation at Athens has a standing offer of $2,000—a great fortune to any Greek man—for information leading to the detection of a submarine base, but never yet received any news about a submarine base in Greece and never yet have any submarines been supplied from Greece."

"The history of the Balkan politics of the allies is a record of one crass mistake after another, and now through pique over the failure of their every Balkan calculation they try to unload on Greece the result of their own stupidity. We warned them that the Gallipoli enterprise was bound to fail, that negotiations with Bulgaria would be fruitless and that the Austro-Germans would certainly crush Serbia."

GREECE LOST TO ALLIES.

"They would not believe, and now, like angry, unreasonable children, the entire powers turn upon Greece. They have deliberately thrown away every advantage they ever had of Greek sympathy. At the beginning of the war 80 per cent of the Greeks were favorable to the entente. Today not 40, no, not 20 per cent would turn their hand to aid the allies."

"Who does your majesty not demand?" the correspondent said.

"Perhaps I shall, but I do not feel I can afford to discern before the fate of Salonic is decided. The allies evacuated Gallipoli after a year. One day they may change their mind about Salonic, leaving the place at the mercy of the first comers. Salonic is Greek; I propose that it shall remain Greek."

WAR TO BE A DRAW.

"Does your majesty believe that Germany can be victorious?" asked the correspondent.

"That depends," replied the king, "on what is meant by victorious. If you mean take London, Paris, and Petrograd, probably not. But I believe the Teutons can defend themselves where they are for a very long time. If economic exhaustion does not force Germany to sue for peace I believe it will be very difficult, if not impossible, to conquer her in a military way."

"Then what does your majesty think will be the outcome of the war?"

The king replied: "A draw—don't you?"

By royal order the above interview was countersigned by Count Marshal Mercati.

FRENCH DEFEND COURSE.

(Continued from page 1.)—The highest French authority has just issued a dictated press interview with the King of Greece has just been shown, emphasizing the groundlessness of the king's accusations against the allies." This French authority says:

"The King declares the Allies have occupied Greek territories without his permission. There is no question of an occupation, properly speaking, but of a temporary use of certain portions. As regards the Greeks, he is entitled to the entire power, made up of them, because because Turkey had always refused to recognize Greek possession of them, a use made with the tacit consent of Greece, which only protested on the subject with the allies making certain stipulations as to methods for the utilization of the islands and receiving in exchange formal promises to their purely temporary use, as to compensation for damage, damages, and even other promises not unconnected with Greek foreign policy."

"The allies were everywhere received by the population with the greatest cordiality and were found by them to be a source of profit, besides being provisioned by them."

SALONIKI Charge Refuted.

"As to Salonic the case is otherwise than King Constantine avers. The allies only went to Salonic in order to succor Serbia, Greece's ally, and as an answer to the mobilization by Serbia's traditional enemy, Bulgaria. Serbia attacked our two allies, and the alliance to obtain from the Greeks the islands stipulated for in the treaty of alliance. It was to replace these men that the allies went to Salonic, at the request of the Greek government, which otherwise refused to mobilize."

"The arrival of the Franco-British forces at Salonic has drawn forth only a purely formal protest and the Greek military authorities have received orders to give no credence to it."

"The analogy between the military necessities which called the allies to Salonic to help Greece's ally, Serbia, and those claimed by Germany for the violation of Belgium simply does not exist. The Greek people has received the allies cordially."

WAR FEVER IN SENATE OVER FALSE RUMOR

Alleged Bandit Act Stirs Chamber; Belief U. S. Must Pacify Mexico.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 19.—[Special.]—That the United States has become the sport of fate in the Mexican affair and that it is likely to be forced into armed intervention beyond the Rio Grande at any time was graphically demonstrated in the precincts of the senate today.

The members of the foreign relations committee had filed into the senate from their committee room, where they had wrangled for nearly two hours over the five resolutions proposing the abandonment of watchful waiting and the employment of armed force to protect Americans in Mexico.

WAR SCARE IN SENATE.

In the cloakroom the committee reached the telephoned bulletin stating that seven United States cavalrymen had been captured by Mexican bandits.

"If that is true, congress will declare war before night," grimly remarked a Democratic member of the committee, one of the principal Wilson lieutenants in the senate, as he hastened to a telephone to ask the White House whether the report had been confirmed from official sources.

It was late in the afternoon before word came from the war department that the story was untrue and was the perverted version of a fight between American cavalrymen and Mexican bandits, in which the horse of one of the troopers was wounded.

Before that information came the senate transacted its business in a state of suspense. The sensational report had been whispered about the capitol and the excitement it created was with difficulty suppressed.

NEW MASSACRE MEANS WAR.

"We are now at the mercy of fate," said a Democratic senator, who generally defends the president, in discussing the situation tonight. "A repetition of the outrage which cost the lives of eight Americans in Mexico would be the last straw. Congress longer could be restrained from adopting extreme measures."

If no more Americans are killed the president will be given a chance to demonstrate the efficacy of his policy. Otherwise "watchful waiting" will be summitedly set aside.

FEARS U. S. MUST ACT.

"Personally I have always had the misgiving that sooner or later we shall be compelled to go into Mexico and set their house in order. If it shall become necessary to do that I shall be greatly surprised and disappointed if President Wilson himself be not the first to suggest aggressive measures."

NEW CHICAGO DOCTOR HAS TYPHUS.

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 19.—Dr. Herbert Ridge of Chicago, a physician for an American company operating in the vicinity of Mexico City, arrived here today and reported to a representative of the United States public health service that typhus in Mexico shows no sign of abating. Dr. Ridge himself was stricken with the disease while treating patients committed to his care and left tonight for his home in Chicago to recuperate.

Reference was also made to the large number of Americans who are still in Mexico and who may be attacked at any time and massacred.

Senator Borah says no reason for the anticipated friction with Carranza. He declared that the president should inform Carranza at once that the United States was ready to use the army and navy to protect American interests in view of the fact that Gen. Carranza had shown his incapacity to give the necessary protection on general war.

The arrival of the Franco-British forces at Salonic has drawn forth only a purely formal protest and the Greek military authorities have received orders to give no credence to it.

The analogy between the military necessities which called the allies to Salonic to help Greece's ally, Serbia, and those claimed by Germany for the violation of Belgium simply does not exist. The Greek people has received the allies cordially."

Oriental Railway—Berlin to Constantinople.

The arrival of the first Balkan train from Berlin at Constantinople was one of the big events of the war for Turkey. The train reached its destination at 10 o'clock Monday, "on time." It was greeted by Enver Pasha, the diplomatic corps, and the highest dignitaries of Turkey. The journey represented an achievement.

The train, which for part of the way ran through the war zone of a conquered country, had to wait for connections from all parts of Germany and Austria. It made the total distance, which is about twice that between Chicago and New York, in fifty-eight hours, the slowest time being made through Serbia.

Tens of thousands of spectators assembled along the route to greet the train. It was Mohammed's birthday anniversary and this added to the enthusiasm.

All along the way were Turkish soldiers from all parts of the empire. It was a picturesque moment when it crossed the Tschatalja defile just after sunset.

In one of the suburbs of Constantinople the train was met by an official delegation awaiting it on the little station platform. Addresses delivered in German and Turkish marked the historic meeting of Germany and Turkey. From San Stefano into Constantinople it was one long ovation from the applauding crowds, indicating how much the new train and real connection with its western allies mean to the Turkish empire.

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 19.—A detailed report of the wounds found on the bodies of the victims of the massacre of Santa Isabel, Chihuahua, on Jan. 10 was filed today with a representative of the state department. The report was certified to by Dr. F. E. Miller of El Paso, who made examinations of each body, noting the auto-mortem and post-mortem wounds and causes of death.

The report shows the use of soft nosed bullets in inflicting death wounds, while Mauser bullets were used to bring down the victims who attempted to escape. The bodies were stabbed with sabers or machetes before and after death. They were examined just as they were recovered, some nude, others partially clad.

RUSS DRIVE TURKS BACK ON 65 MILE LINE IN THE CAUCASUS.

PARLEY ON PEACE IS BROKEN OFF
BY MONTENEGRO

King Nicholas, Blamed for Nation's Dilemma, on Way to Italian Retreat.

PARIS, via London, Jan. 19.—The Journal des Debats says it is officially announced that King Nicholas of Montenegro and his family and suite have sailed for Italy, peace negotiations between Austria and Montenegro having been broken off.

The following official statement was issued:

The wireless news of the surrender of the Montenegro army appears somewhat premature. It is now announced from Belgrade that the negotiations between Austria and Montenegro have been broken, the conditions of surrender imposed by Austria having been found quite unacceptable by Montenegro.

Soldiers in Terrible Flight.

A delayed dispatch respecting the report, that Montenegro had agreed to surrender to Austria was given out by the Montenegro consulate tonight. It follows:

The press announces that unhappy Montenegro has been forced to submit to the inevitable after fighting heroically under particularly disadvantageous conditions against an enemy formidable and greatly outnumbering Montenegro.

It is certain that if the king and government have given in this was because the army had exhausted its stock of ammunition.

Even flight had become impossible, the enemy being on the frontiers. There was no way out by sea and there was intense hostility on the Albanian side.

Tiny Army Worn Out.

If the Serbian army was able to escape from the Serbian feebles Montenegro forces, worn out by superhuman exertions of a long and desperately effective resistance and by privations of all sorts, did not possess the means of seeking refuge on friendly soil.

It is easy to discuss and criticize the conduct of the war, the newspaper is entitled to do so, but which emanate from an enemy source. The unfortunate victim may even be covered with opprobrium, but that cannot take away the reputation from gallant little Montenegro nor diminish the sublime heroic role it has so honorably played in the great war.

Serbs to Aid Allies.

ATHENS, Jan. 19.—A transport load of Serbian troops has been landed at Salamis to co-operate with the Anglo-French forces, according to dispatches received here today. They were carried from the Ionian coast by a British steamer.

King Nicholas Blamed.

ROME, Jan. 19.—King Nicholas of Montenegro is looked upon here as solely responsible for the calamitous course of the country, which he opposed by the king's family and the majority of Montenegrins. These are now indignant over the betrayal of their country to Austria, which practically amounts to the loss of Montenegro's independence.

Montenegro is a hotbed of Austrian espionage and the center of Austrian propaganda in Albania. The consensus of opinion here is that Nicholas' treachery will cost him his throne and that it will lead to Austrian occupation of his country under the pretext of subduing the Montenegrins. The Montenegrins are threatened with death.

Meanwhile the allied representatives have left Scutari, as have the Serbian soldiers.

Warms of New Danger.

The Serbian parliament has not yet taken official cognizance of the recent disaster in Montenegro, but there is no doubt in many minds that this will form the basis of criticism of the government. The new military situation, as it is developing and outlined in the Italian press, is the subject of much concern. The Messaggero in an editorial says:

"Now look out for Roumania. The hour has come for the allies to revise their methods, military, diplomatic, and economic, and no longer talk, but act."

"WORLD'S FINEST COUNTRY CLUB."

Tonight Will See the Formal Opening of the Rebuilt South Shore Country Club Which Lawrence Heyworth Declares to Be the Finest in the World So Far as Equipment Is Concerned.

Lawrence Heyworth will be the man of the hour at the formal opening of the new buildings of the South Shore Country club this evening, for it was he who saw the possibilities of the stretch of sandy waste south of Jackson park ten years ago and enlisted the interest of the group of men whose activities resulted in the founding of the club.

The original club buildings were designed to care for the membership of the time, but the rapid growth of the organization proved them inadequate within a few years. In February, 1914, a new building was moved 100 feet out of the way and work on the new structures was begun. About $450,000 has been spent on buildings and furnishings and about $30,000 in addition on landscaping and the completing of roads and drives.

At the north end of the new group is the scenic dining room, 60x115 feet, designed in Italian renaissance, with Wedgwood decoration. This is surrounded by a 300 foot terrace, to be used for outdoor dining.

At the south end is the ballroom, 80x120 feet. Between the extremes each with its private entrance, is "The equipment," said Mr. Heyworth last night. "In conceded by those who have seen it to be without exception the finest in the world."

Everett C. Brown, president, will have charge of the festivities.

ern rides and 800,000 old model weapons in government arsenals found.

Maj. Gen. Wood was positive in declaring the militia was composed of a fine personnel, but cursed by a hopeless system.

On the question of coast defenses, he said the present guns used to reach a range of 34,000 yards, if mounted for a 5-degree elevation. The trouble was with the gun carriages, he said, which limited their fire to 14,000 yards, whereas European navy craft were sinking ships at over 17,000 yards.

He placed the United States navy fourth among those of the world powers Great Britain, Germany, and Japan exceeding it in strength.

BERLIN, Jan. 19.—A new offensive movement has been inaugurated by the Russians to the east of Czernowitz, near the Bessarabian frontier. The official Austrian statement of today says the Russians made four successive attacks at several places, but were repulsed. The statement follows:

"This morning another battle was begun near Toporoz and Boyan, on the frontier east of Czernowitz. At several places the enemy made four successive attacks, but was repulsed everywhere."

PETROGRAD, Jan. 19.—The official communication issued from general headquarters today reads:

"On the Rumanian front there have been frequent flights of German aviators. "A German attempt to land on the bank of the Dniestr, facing Lenniwoda, below Friedrichstadt, was repulsed by our fire."

"Positions on Dniestr: After an active artillery fire in the region of Tennenfeld the Germans opened two attacks, but both were repulsed."

WOUNDED BY A SHELL.

No longer are there British slurs for Canadian troops.

Philip Sampson of 5006 Harper avenue, Chicago, who fought at Ypres—"Hell's Half Acre"—with the Royal Montreal regiment of the Canadian contingent, last night told members of the Fort Sheridan Training Camp association, why. He spoke of it first as a matter of safety of the Canadian soldiers at the Hamilton club.

"The slurs of the British at the Canadian troops stung them to fight almost to their last man in the battle of Ypres," he said. "We were told in England that when Kitchener had looked us over he said we would not be worth a d—n in a fight, and that we would easily beaten by a force of enemy far smaller than we were. The actual fact in that battle 6,000 Canadians held 40,000 Germans for three days.

RUSSIAN WAR REPORT.

PETROGRAD, Jan. 19.—The war office tonight gave out the following report on operations against the Turks in the Caucasus:

"By our furious and unexpected attack on our center, the Turkish army was disorganized and dislodged from a strong position over a front of more than 100 miles, extending from the region of Lake Van to the Black Sea, on Charsian river north of Melikzher, and retreated in the direction of Erzerum.

At many places the Turks suffered a heavy and unexpected defeat.

"Three of us had gone back to the trenches half a mile or more in the moonlight to get some bottles of fresh water," he said, narrating another incident. "On our way back we were 'picked up' by a German machine gun. The only way to avoid being hit was to drop flat on the ground and lie there until the Germans came to search for us."

"After a fierce fight the English officer came walking along and asked if we had been frightened to death."

"A moment later the German turned a stream of shots in his direction and he followed our example. Thereupon we holstered our revolvers. 'Hey, governor! What's the matter? Aren't frightened to death, are you?' We heard him swear.

"Knowing if he found out who we were, we were in for a good dressing down, all of us were right through the hole of shot to our trench. The officer continued to us.

OUTLINES THREE CAMPS.

Three citizen camps for the middle west summer is the plan of Col. D. A. Frederick, U. S. A., commander of the department of the great lakes.

The Russians, who sustained considerable losses in their attacks on our front, are still continuing their attacks on our front.

Despite eight days of violent offensive operations by superior enemy forces, the situation, apart from slight changes, remains favorable to us.

Canadian Senator Urges Colonial

View of Threatened Invasion.

Ottawa, Jan. 19.—If England had not been engaged with Germany prior to the formal decision of war, but had taken a firmer stand with regard to the security of the dominions and not led Germany at the outset to doubt she would support the entente agreement, Senator Choquette of Quebec declared in the upper house of parliament today, there would have been no war so far as England and her colonies were concerned.

He blamed the indecision of the British government for allowing the Germans to land in the middle west.

EACH OTHER'S MAIL NOW.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—The controversy between Great Britain and Sweden over the detention of mail has reached an impasse with both sides stubbornly refusing to allow the other's mail to be forwarded.

It is reported the sending of more Canadian troops to the front admitting that if it were true, as Senator Lougheed had said, that there was danger of an invasion of Canada, it would seem the part of wisdom to keep Canadian soldiers at home for defense.

SEE FRENCH IN RETREAT FROM SERB FRONTIER

Writers Visiting Trenches When Bulgars Force Retirement on Saloniki.

BY JOHN T. McCUTCHEON.
(War Correspondent-Cartoonist of The Chicago Tribune.)

Copyright: 1916. By The Chicago Tribune.
This is the third and last installment of Mr. McCutcheon's description of his visit to the allied front on the Serbian boundary.

SALONIKI. Dec. 6.—The line of the French trenches across the upper slopes of hill 516 coincided with the boundary line separating Serbia from Bulgaria. It passes along the crests of this hill. From the top one may look down into a valley, deserted by flocks and peasants in the middle of which lies the village of Costirino, also deserted and lifeless.

There has been a good deal of fighting around hill 516. It has been considered the key to the position. One of the French officers explained that there had been repeated attacks and counter attacks, but that the French had finally occupied the hill after a desperate fight.

Road Commanded by Hill. The hill commands the road that leads over the mountains from Costirino to Valandovo and thence onward to Strumitsa Station on the railway running from the French front at Krivojlok to Saloniki. It was of the greatest importance that the French hold this position, and it was of greater importance that the Bulgarians break through to the railroad at Strumitsa Station. This would cut off all communications between the main French army operating at Krivojlok and their base at Saloniki, and might be of enormous strategic importance to the Bulgarians.

French Begin Retreat.

From this point we went to Strumitsa station. It was not long after we had arrived here that we observed many drays which showed the way the wind blew. The French were retreating. From many soldiers came stories that the army was retiring. Some said they were being withdrawn to Saloniki, others that they were going to leave the Balkans altogether.

Heavily laden trains were moving southward across the great Vardar bridge. One French officer said the bridge was to be blown up and the French forces would be safely south of the bridge within nine days. Upon all hands were indications of a retreat.

When we left Saloniki it was believed that a short time later the French would be withdrawn to Krivojlok, but it was announced that we could not be allowed to go. One French correspondent told the general in command that Gen. Sarral had assured us that we might go to Krivojlok.

"When did he promise you?" asked the general.

"Yesterday," said the correspondent. "Many things may change in a day," answered the general mysteriously. It was evident that something had happened.

Trips to Active Front Barred. As a custom, nothing corresponds so well to speak where important troop movements are going on. Also they are not taken to front where big engagements are under way. Once in a while, they may be at the front when the enemy initiates an offensive and may then see some action.

But it has been my observation that correspondents are taken to the front only when the situation is fairly quiet—quite except for the endless artillery duels which sometimes develop into quite important conflicts.

At Strumitsa station we slept in a hospital tent and ate our dinner in a little improvised stone shed which had been built a couple of days before against the station house. Here the medical corps was located and it was as their guests that we dined that night.

A spirit of good fellowship prevailed. One of the officers, a man with the expressive physique of a Coquelin, recited some most amazing things which drew forth great applause. In peace time he is an actor at the Gymnasium in Paris. Now he is in the pay department of the army.

Another officer sang some original songs—one about Cailloux being very popular if judged by laughter and applause. The chief man of Cailloux said: "Cailloux" sang with solemn unctuous and expressive gestures.

LACK OF PROPER PREPARATION CAUSED WASTE IN MEXICAN WAR.

"A free people ought not only to be armed but disciplined, to which end a uniform and well digested plan is requisite." —GEORGE WASHINGTON.

BY CAPT. HENRY J. REILLY.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 19.—[Special.]

In our history, showed clearly that due to lack of proper preparation beforehand we are inevitably led to waste by trying to do everything at the last moment. In his annual report of November, 1845, Gen. Scott recommended the addition of one regiment of artillery and three of infantry to our regular army and probably what was of more importance the increase in the number of privates in each.

Gen. Scott only asked for an increase of one trooper in the cavalry and twenty per company in the artillery and infantry, but qualified this by stating that he thought it would be better if each unit was increased to 100 privates. The total regular force used, plus a battalion of marines with a strength of 548, was 31,000 men.

In other words, had we had a system of regulars plus a small number of volunteers needed to make good companies of all kinds who would have consisted of trained regular soldiers who had done their service, had gone back to civil life, and been called in his message to congress, that body did not act promptly.

Taylor Given Green Troops.

The result was that three months later, when Gen. Taylor needed troops on the Mexican border, he had to rely on green troops, and the result was that he was unable to make good companies of all kinds who would have consisted of trained regular soldiers who had done their service, had gone back to civil life, and been called in his message to congress, that body did not act promptly.

System of Reserve Is Shown.

Congress increased the regular army during the war by adding a regiment of dragoons, eight regiments of infantry, and one regiment of voltigeurs, thus adding nearly 12,000 men. The total regular force used, plus a battalion of marines with a strength of 548, was 31,000 men.

In other words, had we had a system of regulars plus a small number of volunteers needed to make good companies of all kinds who would have consisted of trained regular soldiers who had done their service, had gone back to civil life, and been called in his message to congress, that body did not act promptly.

System No Better at Present.

Had they all been mustered in for the war, the same results would have been produced by a much smaller number. Examination shows, then, that while we had 100,000 men under arms, our system worked so poorly that we were unable to give one of our generals more than 6,045 men, and then had to rob him of the greater part of these in order to give the others 12,000.

Although this took place sixty-nine years ago, our system is practically no better today than it was then, with the result that should we again be required to defend the country we would be in a worse position.

Chronic Jovial Faces and One Could See That He Was an Invaluable Aid to Digestion.

As judged by the spirit of safety and congeniality one would not suspect that their army was retreating before a persistent enemy only a few miles northward.

But the truth of the matter is that the Balkan expedition is not popular with the French soldiers. As a cabinet minister said in France: "Why send soldiers to the Balkans as long as Germans remain on French soil?"

French Wish to Leave Balkans.

It would not be far wrong, in my estimation, to say that the French soldiers would welcome a complete retirement from the Balkans. They came too late and are now too few to either help the Serbs or stay the advance of the central powers.

Until they are strong enough in men and heavy guns to batter their way northward to Soda, their efforts here will be practically wasted for several months to come.

In the meantime, the road from Germany to Constantinople will be rumbling with countless trains carrying supplies and troops to menace the Suez canal and the British empire.

The hearts of the French are not in the Balkan campaign.

E-2 COMMANDER TESTIFIES HE WARNED OF GAS MENACE.

Asked Navy Department for Hydrogen Detector and Battery Change, but Was Ignored.

New York, Jan. 19.—Danger from hydrogen gas on the submarine E-2 was recognized by the commander shortly after the Edison batteries were installed last September and a request for a hydrogen detector was not filled by the navy department. Lieut. Charles M. Cooke, the commander, testified when he resumed the witness stand today before the naval court of inquiry investigating the recent fatal explosion on the craft. Lieut. Cooke also said he recommended that each of the 400 cells in the two batteries be equipped so that the condition of each cell could be determined independently of the others, but the Bureau of Engineering of the navy department would not permit this to be done.

UHLIR TO PUT LID ON LATE TROTS FOR YOUNG GIRLS

Judge Denies City Prosecutor's Effort to Get Star Chamber Hearings.

Judge Joseph Z. Uhlir of the Morals court, after sharply challenging City Prosecutor Harry B. Miller's fitness to handle the state's case against "fox trot" clubs and local hotels, yesterday announced his determination to close the lid on all places which permit late dancing and drinking by young girls.

Judge Uhlir sternly indicated that he did not share Mr. Miller's complacent view of the situation and in a high and witty scene refused the prosecutor's request for star chamber hearings which would protect the names of men and women alleged to have joined in grossly immoral orgies at the Fox Trot club in the Hotel Morrison. The court asked Assistant State's Attorney Emicks to take up with State's Attorney Hoyne the charges in Morals Inspector Hanna's report on loop hotels.

Clash with Miller.

The clash between Judge Uhlir and City Prosecutor Miller came when Mr. Miller objected to the judge reading Mr. Hanna's report in open court and questioning witnesses on points contained therein. Mr. Miller held that the report should be taken up in star chamber sessions.

"Who should you defend these places?" asked Judge Uhlir sharply.

"I object to that question," Mr. Miller replied. "If it is shown that these places have violated the law I intend to prosecute them."

It was finally agreed that Mr. Miller be allowed to hear the witnesses privately in his office and set warrants, if there is evidence of law violations.

Police Hands Tied.

Maj. Funkhouser contributed to the debate the observation that the hands of the police have been tied by the supreme court decision in the Hotel Cecil case, in which, it said, it was held that unless the proprietor or the clerk of a hotel knew that a couple registering intended to use the room for immoral purposes they were not guilty.

Among the witnesses who appeared to testify in the case of Ruth Crist, the young woman who a month ago told of wild drunken revels in the Fox Trot club, were Charles Anderson, an actor who was beaten up one night at the club, his wife, and Miss Gabrielle Gray, an actress, in a scuffle over whom Mr. Anderson was wounded. Miss Gray said that she was secretly willing to go before the grand jury and tell of unspeakable conditions which were permitted at the Fox Trot.

CHICAGO CHARITY TRUST TO ADMINISTER TO POOR.

Gifford W. Barnes Chosen Chairman of Controlling Committee for New Enterprise.

Gifford W. Barnes has been chosen chairman of the controlling committee of the Chicago Community trust, a new enterprise designed to administer philanthropic bequests in Chicago and Cook county. The other members of the committee are: Charles H. Markham, president Illinois Central; Bernard A. Eckhart, head of the Eckhart Milling company; Charles S. Cutting, former judge Probate court, and Abel Davis, vice-president Chicago Title & Trust.

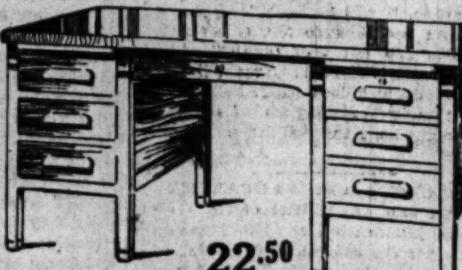

The enterprise is to be modeled after the Cleveland trust founded in the Ohio city less than two years ago and which already has a fund of $20,000,000 from which is derived an income for civic and general welfare work.

A group of Chicagoans already have signed their intention of donating $200,000 as a nest egg.

"We do not intend to form a large organization for giving on any special kind of work," said Mr. Barnes. "Our idea is to have a trust which will direct the money where it is most needed through charitable organizations like the United Charities and civic bodies. For a long time Chicago has felt the need of some such trust as this in whose care citizens can leave bequests with the assurance that the money will be distributed wisely and safely in the manner in which they wish."

CITY BUYER SAID TO LIMIT BIDS TO BLUE TICKETS

Checks Indicating Membership in Thompson Faction Are Held Necessary.

S. C. Dooley, a dealer in office supplies, told a council subcommittee yesterday that he had been approached by Augustus C. Rohm, city purchasing agent and nephew of Fred Lundin, when he wanted to bid on a contract for supplying the city with typewriter ribbons and carbon paper.

"Last December," Dooley said, "I went to the office of Mr. Rohm and asked for the specifications. I talked to a man of the name of Black, who was an assistant city storekeeper. He told me he could do nothing for me, and urged me to see Mr. Rohm."

"I made several attempts to see the purchasing agent, and finally caught him in the hallway near his office on Dec. 11. I told him what I wanted. He looked at me and said, 'Have you got a blue ticket?'"

"Do you mean by a blue ticket?" I asked him.

"No one who does not possess a blue ticket can bid for city business," he said.

Blue Tickets' Needed.

"He then told me he was taking care of his organization and that those men all possessed blue tickets."

"Did he say," asked Ald. Robert M. Buck, "that he was taking care of his friends?"

"Yes, under oath he did," replied the witness, holding up his right hand.

"Did he say he would give those specifications to no one unless that person had a blue ticket?" asked Ald. John Bauer.

"Yes, that's it," answered the witness.

Dental by John Bauer.

When asked by Mr. Rohm if Purchasing Agent Rohm said he did not know Dooley and recalled no meeting with him in the hall. He said there was no "blue ticket" system in his office. Further questions concerning the city's contract for typewriter ribbon and carbon paper he refused to answer unless they were put in writing. In reply to written questions he wrote answers saying that Meade & Wheeler contracted to sell the city ribbon for $8 a dozen and Sidney Morris, for carbon paper for 5 cents a thousand square inches.

"I think it's a lie," said Mayor Thompson, when told of Dooley's statement. "I have heard several of these stories. When I traced them down I found that they emanated from gentlemen who had soft seats in the past."

WILSON MAPPING GUT TOUR TO URGE DEFENSE PROGRAM.

President Arranges Speaking Trip to Combat Bryan Propaganda and Defend Mexican Policy.

The report that there is to be a "division of territory" agreement between Senator A. B. Cummings of Iowa and Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin was confirmed here today by several of the Progressive Republicans who attended the meeting last week.

Under the terms of the arrangement, La Follette will appear as the Progressive Republican candidate for delegates in the states where he has the greatest strength and Cummings will appear in the same role in the states in which he is stronger. In that manner a division of Progressive strength will be eliminated.

Though Senator Cummings has participated in the formulation of the Progressive Republican plan, Senator Cummings has indicated that he does not intend to invade Illinois. Senator La Follette delivered speeches against Sherman and for Robins in 1914, but is expected to follow the example of Cummings in keeping out of the Illinois primary contest.

Deportation for Levee Character.

REPEATEDLY
YARD, TOO!SECRET DIARY EXPOSES HEAD OF
POLICE MYSTICS*Elusive "He" Behind Murder
Barrel and Clucking Hen Enigmas.

"Help!"
Goes on the trail of a man who might give the Manifold Mysteries that began with the Mystery of the Clucking Hen the reporter scoured and stuck fast.
He had heard of the alibi diaries kept by some parolers of the Brighton Park station and in a secluded spot had heard uttered the name of one who in the quiet of the cellroom had made daily entries of the times he was sent off duty to run errands.

Plan to Get Him Rollers.
"See Fred Rung, the lockup keeper," was the view, "he makes so many trips we're going to buy his roller skates so he can cover the ground."
But Patrolman Rung was obstinate. His diary was as private as the chap book of any debutante. Once a prisoner locked up when he was off duty charged some of personal property taken from him when he was searched was missing, and Rung couldn't prove his alibi. Therefore the diary. Purely personal!

It was there the reporter stuck until inspiration came.

"Help!"

He shrilled it into the principal ear of the regular police force, excusing himself with a recollection that Sherlock Holmes occasionally used the aid of Redhead Yard.

Chief Healey consented to listen, if the petitioner could calm himself enough to talk coherently.

Make Him "Shed."
"In that way," pleaded the reporter.

You know Barney Baer—I mean Capt. Bernard P. Baer—solved The Mystery of the Missing Chicken Feed when he filed charges against Patrolman John Leonard for robbery.

Well, but he started opening up a lot of other mysteries—The Telephone Pole, The Pound Cake, and a lot of others.

Now I've found the man that he will be the greatest little light shade of the century; but he won't shed unless you order him to shed. It'll be a great piece of police work."

There was more entreaty, and thus it was that Patrolman Rung walked into Capt. Healey's office and under orders placed on his desk a battered memorandum book bound in rusty brown, and later recorded:

"I'm sorry," said the chief. "You dug me out, and you're entitled to see it. I've given it to you, and if you can make out all means I'll put you on it now.

Now run along and puzzle on it."

Mystery of Phone Pole.
"I carried the pole from Ed Myers' house and Edward Flannigan of the Eighth precinct to a house of his at 2218 North Halsted street. We hauled the pole from the station, Thirty-ninth street and California avenue. Steve O'Meara gave us a hand, too."

The reporter had been working on the mystery of the telephone pole and had gained possession of an old telephone pole, had used policemen to handle it, and had persuaded the owners of a milk wagon to haul it to a residence, where it was set up in a back yard to support a clothes line running to an upper story of its residence. And his attention was caught by another entry containing the same address.

"June 6, 1915. I made two trips down to the rear of his house, 2218 North Halsted street, to strip off the water, which was running all over the vacant house. All the plumbing was stolen out of the house."

No Entry on Detail.

But no entry on the reporter any information on his tip that in some way the man who removed the plumbing put it back and one of them even painted the house to make good some of the damage the water had done. Neither could he tell whether the man had been prosecuted. He was told they had been indicted, but then he lost the trail. Then:

The Mystery of the Clucking Hen.
This Mystery made trouble for Patrolman Baer, for he took for his chickens some of the feed kept in the basement of the station, and when he hit the body of a murdered man was found. Learned says he refused to fill the barrel "clear to the top" when he replaced the "borrowed" feed with a more expensive kind.

In the reporter copied off these entries:

"A. Munson took two hatching hens to his home. These hens were brought to the station by Sid Pepper, a saloonkeeper.

MISS ROSE ALICE NOLAN

LEGAL DEFEAT
CAPS WOES OF
MANLESS EDEN*Judge Rules Spinster Lawyer Can't Recover Gifts Made to Girl Protege.

Miss Estella Akin's manless Eden went to pieces quite a while ago, but it remained for one of her own profession and a man at that—-to deliver the final blow.

Miss Akin is a lawyer, so she understood exactly what Judge Thomas Taylor Jr. meant when he told her in the Circuit court that he found little evidence of a binding agreement on the part of Miss Rose Alice Nolan to "care and comfort" her in her declining years in return for certain gifts and the promise of being made Miss Akin's heir.

Not a Bad Loser.

She tried to look cheerful when Judge Taylor asked her for an account of what she spent on Miss Nolan, but her smile was one of stoic philosophy, rather than contentment.

The suit was filed last October. Five years before Miss Akin had selected Miss Nolan, a stenographer in the law offices where Miss Akin also was employed, as the beautiful young woman whom she was to bring a touch of femininity and romance to her otherwise lonely life. All went well until Miss Akin saw Rose on the street one day—with a man. That was the end.

"Even Jealous of Mother."

"She was insanely jealous," Miss Nolan testified in court. "She was even jealous of my mother and the affection she showered on me. I had to account for everything I did, where I went, why I went there, and whom I saw. She would say: 'If I can't have you, don't come near me else.' Finally it got unbearable."

"I don't think I care to hear arguments," said Judge Taylor. "It is evident that Miss Akin made her gifts to Miss Nolan because of affection, and I don't believe she ever thought of getting them back."

The gifts, according to Miss Akin's bill, included shares of stock, Turkish baths, tango slippers, wearing apparel, and theater tickets.

er from Nebraska, appeared at the hotel and took away Herbert's clothes.

She Leaves Hotel.

Mrs. De Onsoone Updike has not been at the hotel since leaving, according to what is believed to be still in Chicago. An acquaintance reported seeing her on the street at 11 o'clock yesterday morning.

State's Attorney Hoyne had five detectives on her trail since Monday. One registered at the hotel as "A. Cox" on Monday, but left at 10:30 last evening on the receipt of a telephone message presumably to the effect that the woman had been located by the state's attorney's office.

Clothes Held for Hotel Bill.
Her clothes and baggage were being held by Samuel Updike, the proprietor, for an unpaid bill of $54.25, which, he said, covered laundry, special meals, and other services for a week. Her baggage is marked "Sarah Ray," which adds another to the list of names by which she has been known.

The previous week's bill, according to the proprietor, was paid by young Updike.

At the Netherland, before his marriage, Herbert remarked frequently that he was engaged to the daughter of the president of the Southern Pacific (or Southern) railroad, and at one time he said he had made a trip to Kansas City to visit her.

Grand Jury Votes Three Bills.
The grand jury decided upon three true bills. The two brothers are jointly charged with:

Conspiracy to murder their father,
Mr. Furman D. Updike.

Conspiracy to murder their mother,

Mrs. Furman D. Updike.

Conspiracy to murder their sister,

Mrs. Frances Updike.

No degree of difference in the alleged culpability of both sons for their plotted crimes was indicated in the action taken by the juries after hearing the confessions, the dictaphone records of the plot, and the testimony of private detectives and members of the Oak Park police department.

Last night the prisoners went to court in the Cook county jail, having been brought from the local office of Police Chief Law of Oak Park by the orders of the state's attorney, the court, and the grand jury. The county jailer received orders to hold the prisoners incommunicado.

Singer's Husband Turns Up.
Another man arrived in Chicago to take up the trail of Neil de Onsoone. The new arrival is Louis Hinckley, who declares
he is the husband of the cafe entertainer.
Hinckley was located in a cafe at Congress and Halsted streets and talked freely.

"I was home in Grinnell, Ia., visiting my mother," said Hinckley, "when we read in the newspaper that Neilie was mixed up in a case. Mother died when she read that Neilie had been married again. I came up to find out about it. I never heard of this Updike boy."

Updike the Third Husband.
"Neilie and I were married in September, 1914. Neilie was more or less dead, but I didn't know much about her. Last October I left her here in Chicago with a good job at the Aragonia and I went to visit my mother. I was to send for her to join me and I did, but she never came and I heard nothing from her."

Hinckley was emphatic in his declaration that he has not obtained a divorce.

"I don't think she has got a divorce.
She is a good girl and I think she loves me. I can't understand this whole matter. I want to talk with her and find out something about how matters stand. I am willing to talk to State's Attorney Hoyne if he wants me to, but there is nothing that I know to tell him."

Hoyne Anxious to Find Woman.
State's Attorney Hoyne is particularly anxious to locate the singer, not on account of any possible criminal charges
he says, because those belong, if anywhere, to the Indiana jurisdiction, but to examine her on the extent of Herbert's acquaintance among the habitués of west side cafes.

In this connection inquiry is being made into the efforts to bring about the release of Irving Updike on a writ of habeas corpus signed by a petitioner whom he repudiated on the witness stand in Judge Charles M. Thomas' court.

"I want to move the court to make an inquiry to determine who employed them

cent, had been engaged in domestic service.

Why Housework Is Shunned.

"It is a peculiarly strong compulsion to the sensing faculty of the female," says
the report, "and her intuitive avoidance of sexual danger, that the occupation proved by actual statistics to be productive of most prostitution is the occupation
she most shuns."

In this manner the committee accounts for the constant unfilled demands for domestic service.

"Eight dollars a week is fixed by the committee as the least amount that will meet the necessary items of a bare living for a girl employed in a large city. The report says wages were found to be discouragingly short of this figure. Attention is called to testimony taken by the committee of "wages running as low as $2 a week; of foremen who professedly allow girls to work only until their arms are blackened, and occasionally hurl boxes at them, and of the manager who found his factory besieged with the agents of professional prostitutes."

Traffic Strikes at the Home.
A startling condition and one which the report declares strikes directly at the home is found in what is termed the "call girl" system. On this subject the report says in part:

"A detective told of a 'call' list which he had seized in a raid. More than twenty names were on the list, first names only being given, then complete telephone numbers. He checked up these names and found some of the women to be respectable married women. Two were young daughters. Others were working girls."

The committee's report concludes an investigation that began in August, 1913, and covered extensive inquiries into conditions existing in Chicago, Springfield, Peoria, Alton, East St. Louis, and several other cities.

Louis G. Barratt O'Hara was chairman of the committee throughout its life and led in its activities. The other members were former Senators Niels Juul, secretary, of Chicago, and Edmund Beall of Alton and Senators E. Jeff Tossey of Toledo and D. T. Woodard of Benton.

"Certainly, we'll pay the court costs," said Attorney George Remus, who asked for the writ.

Attorney John J. Stealy, who said that he appeared on behalf of the parents of Irving, also urged an investigation.

"CITY COUNCIL" FORMED BY SOCIAL SERVICE CLUB.

Members Will Act Just Like Some Aldermen, and Buck Will Be a Mayor.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.
Last night the Social Service club, which meets every Wednesday evening in the rooms of the Caxton club in the Fine Arts building, resolved itself into a city council and will pattern as nearly as the real city council as possible.

Ald. Robert M. Buck of the Thirty-third ward explained the workings of the city council and described the committees and their duties. Ald. Asa A.
McCormick of the Sixty-third ward illustrated one duty of an alderman by introducing one ordinance. The ordinance was drawn in proper form and was a bona fide document. When the Social Service league council is fully organized at its next meeting, Feb. 2, the ordinance will be referred to the proper committee. Ald.
Buck will then be called Mayor. Buck and every member of the Social Service league, men and women, will be called aldermen.

A committee on committees, composed of three members from the three sides of the city, was chosen, with W. W. Babcock as chairman and George J. Anderson secretary.

HURLEY SAYS AMERICANS MUST LEARN ACCOUNTING.

Federal Trade Commission Points to Enormous Losses from Lack of Accurate Information.

American business is the victim of poor accounting, in the opinion of Edward N.
Hurley, president of the Federal Trade Commission, who spoke before the Chicago Association of Credit Men at a dinner last night at the Hotel La Salle.

"Investigation shows us," he said,
"that detailed data on business problems is nowhere available.

"This was brought out clearly in a brief survey which we made of a typical manufacturing industry. Figures for 1914 showed that twenty-five of the larger manufacturers earned only 2½ to 3½ per cent on their capital stock. But the most striking feature which appears was the fact that fifteen of the concerns, with an investment of $8,000,000, did not charge any premium for depreciation.

"It is a fair way to estimate business men in the general demonstration, in a large number of industries had been caused by firms who cut prices without knowing what their goods actually cost."

17 HEROES GET AWARDS UNDER CARNEGIE FUND

Four Silver Medals Given, One to Chicagoan, and Thirteen Bronze Ones.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 19.—At the twelfth annual meeting of the Carnegie hero fund commission here today, seventeen acts of heroism were recognized. In four cases silver medals were awarded, in thirteen cases bronze medals. Nine of the heroes lost their lives, and to the dependents of four of these pensions aggregating $1,220 a year were paid; to the dependents of four of the others who lost their lives sums totaling $1,000 to be applied, subject to the direction of the commission, in various ways, were granted.

Chicago Gets Silver Medal.

The four silver medals were awarded as follows:

Harold W. Snow of 7429 Grandon avenue, Chicago, a private secretary, for attempting to save Mollie Meredith, an aged colored woman, from being killed by a train at Joliet, Ill., Jan. 10.—A bitter debate in which personalities figured to a large extent was precipitated in the convention of the United Mine Workers yesterday over a proposition to have a committee appointed to investigate alleged extravagance in the financial affairs of the organization.

Charges were made that there was a waste of money; that some of the men under salary in the union padded expense accounts and were inefficient, and counter charges were hurled back that the initiators of the proposed investigation had only ulterior motives in view and were asking for a scrutiny of the financial affairs of the mine workers in order to bring discredit to the organization and its leaders.

White Sees Plot.

The battle of words revolved about President John E. White, who declared that the proposed investigation was a mere excuse of "insidious foes of unionism" to attack the administration.

In the forefront of the fight on the other side were Adolph Germer and Duncan McDonald, both of Illinois. Mr. White read letters written by Germer to McDonald to prove, he said, that they were asking for an investigation for political purposes within the organization, and McDonald retorted that he had "never resorted to the underworld method of robbing a man's office to get documents."

Deny There Is Extravagance.

John L. Lewis, of Illinois, chairman of the resolutions committee, President White, and William Green, secretary-treasurer, denied there was extravagance in the organization.

Lawrence Byrnes, deceased, who was an 11 year old school boy, died attempting to save William S. Ward, a plagiatic, from drowning in a pond at Philadelphia May 21, 1915. The medal is to be sent to his father.

William D. Bard, Sr., deceased, of Little Rock, Ark., died attempting to save his 11 year old Elsie Bussey from drowning at Benton, Ark., July 11, 1915. The medal will be sent to the widow at 122 Scott street, Benton, Ark., together with $50 a month pension, with $5 a month additional for each of three children until they reach the age of 16.

List of Bronze Medals.

The award of bronze medals were to J. James McCann, Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Fred Bushell, Friend, Ore.; Austin Hall, S. C.; John E. Burn, 123 Cooper street, Atlanta, Ga.; William S. CHICAGO SOON TO KEEP RECORD ON STORK'S VISITS.

Birth Registration Will Start in a Week—Gives City Line on Annual Rate.

Chicago is to know its real birth rate after the registration of births and deaths with the city health department under the new law is to begin in a week.

Incidentally, the increased work is going to mean the addition of clerks in the health department and the county clerk's office. It is estimated that the annual birth rate here is probably at least 50,000.

Registration should have begun Jan. 3, but the state board of health hasn't issued the blanks.

When the department is in readiness, all midwives, physicians, undertakers, and cemetery superintendents will be required to register. Previous registration does not hold.

The city will get 25 cents each for the first 5,000 reports of births and deaths and 10 cents thereafter.

The service of the Britannica has been improved wonderfully fast in the last few years. The new eleventh edition with more in it and of better quality has been sold right along at a lower price than previous editions, and quality and quantity considered, at a lower price than any other encyclopaedia. Now the more convenient and compact "Handy Volume" issue of the new edition is offered for 64% less than the Cambridge issue.

BOY SKATERS ARE AWARDED GOLD BUTTONS

Gross Announces Winners
in "Tribune's" Playgrounds Contests.

BY WALTER H. ECKERSALL.

That THE TRIBUNE campaign to get the boys and girls out into the bracing cold weather has been successful was shown yesterday when Sup't Theodore A. Gross of the municipal parks turned in a report of the results held at the various playgrounds.

Although all the boys did not win the gold buttons needed to qualify for the final events to be held on the Grant Park lagoon next month, their efforts were worthy of commendation.

Appended is the list of those who competed successfully in the first tests of THE TRIBUNE tourney for figure skating, the gold button winners of which are eligible to take part in the final speed and figure events:

END HEGEWISCH SCHOOL STRIKE AT CONFERENCE

Parents Agree to Return Pupils When Board Promises Inquiry Into Building.

Hegewisch will send its children back to school this morning. The strike was settled yesterday at a conference held between a committee of Hegewisch parents and Supt. John D. Shoop and Jacob M. Loeb, president of the board of education. Word went out last evening throughout the community that all children were to go back. It was decided at the meeting yesterday that it would be the morning of Jan. 21.

It was telephoned from parents to parents, and passed from house to house.

Hour of Bitter Argument.

The agreement was not made before an hour of bitter argument. Earlier in the afternoon Mr. Loeb had directed W. L. Bodine, superintendent of compulsory education, to send his men into the district today and make arrests if the children were not in school.

The parents finally agreed that they would send the children back to the school when the building was declared safe.

"The building will be safe at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning," replied Mr. Loeb.

"Then the children will be there," replied Mrs. Benjamin B. Walker, president of the Parents' association.

Inspection by Committees.

Mr. Loeb said he would send a committee to visit the school early in the morning, which will take any action necessary to make the building safe.

The parents want a man in the basement at all times as protection against fire from the furnace, which is said to be antiquated.

Mrs. Walker asserted it was not a strike, but a protest, asking:

"Is there any law which forces us to send children to an unsafe place?"

"You should have come to the board before doing this," said Mr. Shoop.

Operations, Property, and Earnings of the Company.

Question of Credits.

"The payment for goods shipped by the American manufacturer will be cleared immediately after shipment is made and the final shipping papers presented to the Chicago office. To overcome the question of credits we are making arrangements to sell in Russia on credit to customers only against notes which will be guaranteed by local banks."

Gas Tribune Credit.

Mr. Postnikoff, who was elected president and general manager, gave The Tribune credit for much of the success of the undertaking.

"Robert McCormick, the Petrogross correspondent of The Tribune, was the first to see the opportunity and give it the prominence it deserved in his dispatches," reads the formal announcement made last night, which set out the vast changes brought about in trade relations during the year, and continues:

"The company, which represents a co-operative effort, will perform the sales work, overcoming as far as possible the disabilities of different language, credit, and business methods generally. The company is an Illinois corporation, with a capitalization of $100,000, to be subscribed by fifty noncompeting manufacturers. Each manufacturer thus contributes $2,000 and has equal rights in all

operations, property, and earnings of the company.

When Sam Blythe writes on politics-

He has no equal as a reporter.

When he writes a novel of national politics, he becomes a facile story-teller and a keen interpreter in one.

To call this a novel of national politics gives no hint of the store of inside political information which it contains. Presidential campaigns are like icebergs: five-sixths of them are out of sight. The hidden part is the interesting part.

The Constitution lays down the visible program for President-making; but you will search it in vain for mention of secret meetings on Southern beaches, for instruction in squeezing campaign millions out of Big Business, or for piling up votes in November.

Mr. Blythe remedies these omissions, in A Western Warwick, beginning in this week's issue of still uses a candle and flat flame burner to test the gas she now burns in 450,000 gas ranges

CONSIDERING Gas as a Cooking Fuel—Chicago might just as well test it with a spoon and a tin can, as with a candle and flat-flame burner—for the "candle power" of gas has nothing whatever to do with the efficiency of a gas range

The woman who cooks on your Composite range wants gas that will make a hot fire—the hotter, the better.

And she, and everybody else knows, in these days, that the temperature of a gas flame depends entirely upon the HEAT UNITS in the gas.

Natural gas yields little more than a candle volume of light if burned in a flat-flame burner—yet it gives as much, or more, heat than artificial gas.

Chicago tests the candle power of the gas she uses in her ranges, because an ordinance says she must. The ordinance is a back number—a relic of the days when we lighted our streets with flat-flame burners.

Today this ordinance is standing in the way of progress. It is a big obstacle to any plan towards the manufacture of cheaper and more efficient gas for the purpose that gas is now used.

If you are at all puzzled about the relation of "candle power" and "heat units," ask our experts about it when you inspect the new line of Composite ranges—at any of our branch stores or our big salesroom downtown. The new line includes some fifty shapes and styles, for as many different requirements.

PROBATION LAW LAXITY CHARGED TO MANY JUDGES

Offenders Often Released De-

ACT'S PROVISIONS IGNORED.

BY HENRY M. HYDE.

Suppose you lie-se your wife, black here, and otherwise marry her beauty. You are arrested, taken into the Municipal court,
tried, and convicted.
Six months in the body hatches you are in the face. But the kindly judge puts you on probation instead and you go free out into the streets.

Within two months of the time you are put on probation you are arrested again, charged with working a confidence game on an unsuspecting sucker. Again you are brought into the Municipal court and again you are tried, convicted, and sentenced to the house of correction. For a second amazing time the presiding judge puts you on probation and lets you go free. Just what right a judge has to put a man already on probation on probation for the second time is a curious question.

AGAIN HE GAINS FREEDOM.

Suppose shortly after your second re-sentenced, and a third time the judge judges you on probation that's love! That's love!

vile or horrible in love. It's just the simplest, sweetest, gayest thing imaginable.

It's like two children playing and big sniffs of wonderful roses. It's like shouting at the top of your lungs. It's the whole world laughing at the universe

first offenders shall be put on probation.

There are some other illustrations of how cruelly it is obeyed by the judges.

Take the case of John D'Ambrosio, aged 15 years. When he was only 9 years old he was taken to the Juvenile court as a truant. Three years later his father had him brought back as an in-convincible truant. He was sent to the Parish school.

In February, 1914, John seems to have started out in the baby hand bandit business.
He was then 12 years old. He held up a messenger boy, took a collect telegram from his victim and tried to get the money on it. His was sent to the St.
Charles school for boys. In a little over 4 years he was released to his father.

That law has been in force in Chicago since July 1, 1915, but it is not yet observed by at least half of the judges in the criminal branches of the Circuit, Superior, and Municipal courts.

Grand Opera house. Also the intelligence that Miss Peggy Wood, the attractive ambitious Socialist, and once upon a time a

Still another press agent exhibits

"Potash and Perlmutter" will revisit actors will not be those who presented the comedy here before.

Mr. Houseman today, like Shylock's postman, has a horn full of news. "The Song of Songs" will be silenced after Saturday night's performance at Palmer, and the players in it will return to Town,
as the actors call New York. Though Mr. Houseman does not say so, it is believed that the somewhat chill attitude of Chicagoans toward Mr. Sheldon's lively drama convinced its management that it would not be salable in other markets less metropolitan than Broadway.

COUNCIL DIRECTS CHIEF TO ENFORCE AUTO FENDER LAW

Upbraids Police Head for Ex-cusing Delay in Regulating Trucks.

BUCK NOW UP TO ETTELSON.

Demands by the city council for the enforcement of the ordinance requiring fenders on motor trucks reached a climax at the meeting yesterday afternoon.

One alderman said Chief of Police Healey should be ousted from office if he fails to put the law into effect. Another said the corporation counsel's office is fighting the battle of the interests opposed to the ordinance instead of trying to sustain the action of the council.

And the action taken was to fire back at Chief Healey a letter he wrote giving his reasons for not enforcing the ordinance. He also said he would be ousted from office if he fails to put the law into effect.

Opinion of Chief of Police.

The outburst came when the chief's letter was read by the clerk. In it he set forth a belief that the ordinance cannot be enforced because of legal defects. He also said that the measure now is before the court, that he has not been convinced that any fender passes the test of reasonableness, and that he has been advised by the legal department that he might be liable to suit if he enforced the ordinance.

RS. HUGH J. McBIRNEY, who has taken a box for the benefit performance to be given for the Ell Batte settlement house by Disbilled's Ballet Russes on Feb. 14, has an interesting experience to tell. The first time he saw the ballet in Paris, just before the declaration of war, some sixteen months ago. It seems only $1 in excess of the original price of seats is to be asked by the members of the advisory board, of which Mrs. Russell Tyson is chairman, for the coming performance.

But in Paris when Mr. McBirney, who was traveling with his wife and daughter, now Mrs. Henry Stimson of New York, attempted to purchase first night seats he was advised that each seat at the ballet at his disposal, he purchased seats for the third night at $9 each, only to have many offers of $25 before the night had arrived.

Real Love Stories

Sailor Farmer.

WEN my grandmother was a young girl she was engaged to be married to a man of whom her parents approved, and whom she had known from the time she was a little girl. One night she dreamed that a tall man with bright blue eyes and a wide smile came to her door and carried her away. So vivid was the impression that she began to think more about her dream man than about her real lover, and when some time later she met exactly with the man in her dream she was rather frightened and yet attracted. The fact that he had come in a ship instead of with a pair of horses made him even more attractive.

It was evident from the fact that the newcomer had fallen in love, and soon began a whirlwind wooing that fairly carried grandmother off her feet, and they were married.

My grandfather had bought a farm in Michigan, and although he was a sailor and not a farmer the idea of hewing a home and fortune from the wilderness appealed to him. He had arrived over from Canada to Port Huron, and had come through the woods for the log cabin that was to be their home. And as grandmother sat beside her big husband with the bright blue eyes and watched the splendid pair of horses moving with such ease and spirit she realized that her dream had come true in every particular.

They were happy in their pioneer home. In fact, I remember hearing my grandmother say when I was a little girl that she was so happy that she often felt like going out and cutting down a few pine trees herself.

THE cinemized salamander, stingless, snares forth to recall to the mind Owen Johnson's novel of the young lady who lived by her wits without breaking the letter of virtue.

In this revival it has in Miss Ruth Fielding a very charming little star, therein following the steps of the story for which she is charming.

This young lady is the picture of innocence and the soul of sweetness, and when she goes to the city after a bad man has stolen the deed to the old home place, she is amazed at all of the things she finds there.

At the very station she is picked up by a musical comedy company and taken into their hearts and rooms, where the women drink champagne and have parties in their kimonos, but she never does so.

At a banquet all of the bad men who are in the plot against the home place fall deeply in love with her, but she falls 'em, and gets back the stolen papers, acquiring in the process a handsome husband—and the "Salamander" is over.

It is very much one of the usual kind of productions.

Architects Plan Housewarming

BY CINDERELLA.

HE invitations for the housewarming on Sunday at the studio of Messrs. Holabird and Root, 1145 Lake shore drive, are too delectable for words.

They are quite as entrancing as the mansion itself. On a card, coude crème, and a tiny engraving of the chateau, perfectly symmetrical, are the names of the hosts, Holabird and Root, and the Roman statue in the front garden.

Beneath is sketchily engraved the date and the important fact that the entrance and the important fact that the entrance to the west.

I believe the ladies of the two families, will be the honor Sunday afternoon, although they have had nothing to do with the household arrangements, which are solely the result of the fancies of the two brother architects. John Holabird and John Root were contemporaries at the Beaux Arts in Paris.

Occasionally one meets a lone man who says he's off for an evening's drilling in some army, or bound for Fort Sheridan. It is not the best and pleasantest.

In Washington, it is the preparedness of everybody to do what he can, and the enthusiasm of the women.

MUSIC AND THE MUSICIANS!!

"Don Giovanni"
at the Auditorium.

BY ERIC DE LAMARTRE.

OZART'S "Don Giovanni," beloved by generations of operagoers and hated by mediocres singers through the same span of years, was revived last evening at the Auditorium.

John McCormack was the featured member of the cast, and his presence justified such attention merely from the fact that he is one of the few tenors of the day who are not dismayed entirely by the Mozart text. For this classic opera makes certain demands above the usual competence—real voices, real techniques, real music taste, and, in addition, a scholarship that includes accurate knowledge of this particular epoch's style. Just as it is in its essentials no man has set down in print to our knowledge. But every one cries lustily for it and sometimes recognizes it when he hears it.

The presentation of "Don Giovanni" is a serious matter, even though ideals may not be particularly high. Such studies as that of the lamented Gustav Mahler, at the Metropolitan some seasons ago, are prepared with fasting and impatience, with agonizing of singers for weeks in advance, with terrible feuds, cuts, and especially tempest. Out of a compromise between musical tastes and tradition, with considerable "personal equation" added, come great performances, if so be it that the other factors are favorable.

This season's presentation may be set down as a commendable revival of a classic with enough music in its score to satisfy the demands of a half-dozen modern music drama. While the cast had not the best of luck, the orchestra, which sang the opera here in 1908—Mme. Sombach, Nordica, and de Vea, and Dr. de Reszke, Salgano, Herman Devries, Pini-Corsi, and Scotti, Mandelstam—indeed—it gave sincere, well-studied interpretation.

Burdened with the "big" role, Don Giovanni, Mario Ancona drew upon the store of his experience with results which, if not electrifying, compel respect for fidelity to the Mozart score, and for eccentricity. The League of Operagoers brought to bear his enviable vocal equipment, still a skill and a forcefulness that made the role stand out sharply. His singing of the "Madamina" and "Nedda's" numbers merited the applause given them.

McCormack was saddled with a role, Don Ottavio, quite taskful in the scale of things. The first contribution he made had the largest of all portions as a "Duke and peace" aria, which scored mainly by reason of his pure, sweet tone and its ability to cope with the exacting of range and flexibility. The performance waited for a repetition of his last aria.

Bellissimo Trevisan's capital comedy sketch of the peasant Masseto and James Goddard's adequate Commedia dell'arte were the chief comic relief. Let us remark that the women of the cast made better impression than the men. The League of Operagoers aided Dr. E. M. T. Clegg, who played for Frances Rose, the Donna Anna, in the score of a gripe. Despite its aches she sang well indeed, though the time was plainly invalid. The difficult "O sal, chil l'onore" aria won its applause on musical merit.

Helen Stanley, the Donna Elvira, was the delight of the performance on the score of beauty of color, and finish. To be sure, she altered the values of notes in one phrase, but such interpretations as that of the "Mi tradi s'ol alma ingrata" and its prefatory recitative are heady seduction.

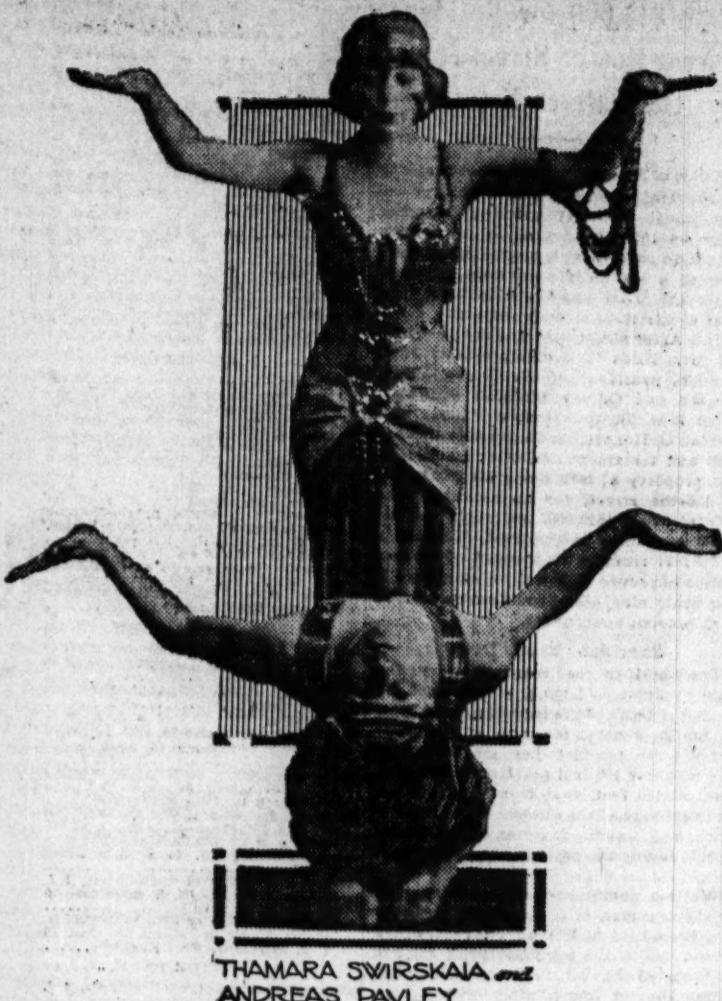

Myra Sharlow, the classic soprano Zerlina, quite captivated her audience. The fresh, clear timbre of her voice was a joy.

For a performance prepared the confusion of such repertory work as that of the resident company, Mr. Campanini's work was excellent. The choice of singers at his disposal, and that details were considered more carefully than before is proved in the excellence of the duos, trios, quartets, and general ensembles. The orchestra gave the performance honest effort under his baton. That it is able to rise out of its weariness from continuous rehearsal of modern works to serve so well the fine soul'd genius of Mozart is worthy of special note.

The revival was not that of the dreams we spin through reading of the score, but it was commendable.

The Cincinnati Symphony orchestra, Dr. Ernst Kunwald, conductor, will be heard this evening at Orchestra Hall. Myrna Sharlow, soprano, will be the soloist, and two important works in the program are Dohnanyi's part for orchestra, opus 18, and the Brahms E minor symphony.

"Thais" will be sung at the Auditorium

THAMARA SWIRSKAIA and ANDREAS PAVLEY

Thamara Swirskaia and Andreas Pavley, two of the Russian dancers featured in the production of "Cleopatra" last week, are to be seen tomorrow night during the "gala" performance at the Auditorium.

Program of the Ballet Russé.

The Metropolitan Opera company of New York announces the complete arrangement for the Auditorium engagement on Feb. 14 of the Diaghileff Ballet Russé.

The seventeen ballets, pantomimes, "dance poems," tableaux, and extravaganzas in the American répertoire of the famous Russian company have been made into three programs for Chicago. The programs will be for two weeks and will consist of twelve evenings and two afternoon performances.

Hog values at Chicago yesterday continued their upward climb, selling 10 cents higher than on Tuesday and the highest of the year. Receipts were posted at $8,000,000 of which made $7,250,700. Top sales were at $7.75. The trade was steady, with packers trying to get orders filled on a cheaper basis, but the late market in the west and the close was strong at the full advance.

Cattle values showed little change. The better grades of steers, cows, and heifers sold actively at former prices, while inferior lots were slow showing any material loss. Receipts were posted at $6,000,000, but they did not get on the market until late, because of the slow movement of trains. Best steers sold at $5.00 and the bulk made $7,600,000. Calves were steady to strong, with assortments up to $1.00.

Sheep and Lambs Advance. Sheep and lambs made firm to 10 higher prices, and the latter topped the market at $10,800. Yearlings sold up to $9.50 and prime western ewes up to $7.75. Receipts of $21,000 found a ready outlet at the prices, with a fair demand from outsiders.
